English II: Composition Skills
INTRODUCTION

You are opening the covers to an exciting English literature writing course. Expect to be challenged and stretched by the lessons and activities. Over the next few months, you will undoubtedly grow in knowledge and skills, much like your body is growing. Some progress will hardly be noticeable. Other growth will be sudden.

Growth spurts are more than physical. A young man who is learning to play the trumpet practices for a period of time without experiencing any noticeable improvements. Suddenly, his hard work pays off, and he accurately and skillfully plays a favorite song. A young lady new to the game of volleyball may start the season on the bench. For the first half of the season, she practices hard and learns from watching her teammates. By the second half of the season, she is a starter or a primary substitute.

You may have already noticed your mental and physical growth that makes you more of an adult than a child. Adolescence is the biggest growth stage in life. Adolescence is a time when the body grows, the mind develops, and new feelings arise within you.

The maturing process can be exciting and frustrating. For example, Nathan, who is 16 years old, grew more than three inches in seven months and felt quite awkward and clumsy. He noticed a lack of coordination and agility. Still, he continued to practice and eventually adjusted to his young adult frame.

Mental and emotional growth can also be frustrating and confusing. You may have become upset because you had something to say but could not put together the correct words. You probably felt that your thoughts and feelings were bottled up inside and were released in jumbled expressions. Your thoughts and feelings are expressions of who you are as well as your bright new ideas, high hopes, and confident dreams.

Learning to communicate correctly in English is a very valuable way for you to express yourself to others—so they can appreciate who you are. As you read and learn more about the world around you, you may want to express beliefs to your friends or discuss personal problems with a parent. You may want to tell a funny story at a party or to write words for a new song. You may be a shy person who would rather write than talk. You may be the type of person who is uncomfortable putting thoughts on paper. Whatever the case may be, English is for you—the real, growing you. This English course is designed to stretch your knowledge about literature and equip you to become an excellent writer.

When you complete the course you should be prepared to conduct research, compile data, organize your thoughts and satisfy writing expectations in your school.

WHAT AND HOW STUDENTS WILL LEARN FROM THIS COURSE

This course consists of 75 lessons. English II: Composition Skills are recommended for 10th grade, and English III: Writing Skills are recommended for 11th grade. The format is designed for classroom or self-study settings. Students will be able to progress through the course individually or in class groups. The secret to doing well is for students to read the entire lesson first, then complete the activity questions as the text is read again.

Each Booklet contains one chapter. Each chapter is divided into three sections of five lessons each: (Chapter 1; Section 1; Lessons 1-5). The course is designed so students will enjoy learning to communicate effectively in English. Students are encouraged to read each lesson completely, then respond to the activity questions which are packaged in a separate booklet labeled: Activities. Students may answer the questions directly on each activity page or answer the questions on a separate sheet of notebook paper. The teacher will inform students of local school policy.

Activity questions identified with an underlined number (example: 17.) will appear on quizzes and may appear on chapter tests. Questions on the Life Principles and vocabulary will be included in quizzes and chapter tests. Students may be required to quote the Life Principles to the teacher when students turn in their activity questions.

A section quiz is provided for students to complete at the end of every 5 lessons. The teacher will issue a chapter test after students complete all 15 lessons (after the third section quiz). The chapter test is compiled from the three quizzes (section quizzes and chapter tests are included in this Teacher's Resource Kit). Students who fail the quiz should be required to repeat the five lessons from that section. Students who score 85% or higher on the three section quizzes may not be required to take the chapter test; this option is at the discretion of the teacher.

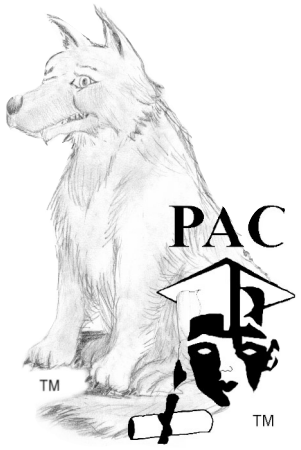

Answers to activities, quizzes and tests are found in this Teacher's Resource Kit. The activities keys are divided by chapter and section number. Students may be allowed to grade their own answers to activity questions. The teacher will inform students of local school policy. The contents of the Teacher's Resource Kit may be duplicated as needed, but not for resale.

If the teacher requires additional comprehensive exams, questions may be compiled from the chapter tests of this course.

Vocabulary words are identified at the beginning of each lesson and are noted in bold, italics type within the text. Vocabulary words will appear on most quizzes.

Meet Max Potential, PAC curriculum's mascot. Max is an adolescent wolf who will be "hanging around" to encourage students to reach their maximum potential as they read and work through PAC lessons.
